Buying a Used Stairlift

Used Stairlifts can be an excellent deal.

Check List:

1. Manufacturer of Stairlift – Check the manufacturer to determine the warranty. Ask if any warranty is remaining and if the warranty is transferrable.
2. What side of the stairs was the stairlift initially installed on? Do you need the stairlift on the same side? Some stairlifts can be handed, left or right, in the field, others cannot.
3. Does the used stairlift have enough rail? Check to make sure that your stairs from bottom landing to top landing is the same or shorter than the rail you are buying. You cannot buy a foot of rail. Rail comes in 8' sections. Rail will normally cost over $500. per section.
4. Does the stairlift come with an installation guide? Who will install it?
5. Do you have all the parts? seat, carriage, rail, rack, remotes, charger, etc . . . .
6. Does the stairlift work? We will not buy a stairlift laying on someone's garage floor. We want to make sure the stairlift works before buying it. You should too.
